

Dear Manufacturer,

As a part of our [\[material requirement program, LEED Project, etc.\]](#), we have adopted the Common Materials Framework (CMF) as a way to consistently communicate and collect sustainable product information and data, as such, we're collaborating with many other firms to simplify how sustainability information is requested and shared across the building products industry. While our individual programs and priorities may vary, we all need access to the same core data points about your products, and we believe the CMF is the right foundation.

Together, we're supporting a unified approach that will:

- Reduce duplicate requests for similar information
- Support automation of how your sustainability investments and data demonstrate compliance with material requirement programs into the future

Please select any of the options as shared in the Common Give templates from mindful MATERIALS. \(of if your firm prefers a specific method, specify here\). Once you've submitted, please share your experience with us (and the mM Team) using this feedback form.

Note, if you've already received this request and shared this information with anyone else, the same response works for all—no extra lift, just send along that completed questionnaire to us.

Thank you,
